

Webinar: Combining Expertise With Adaptability to Face an Uncertain Maritime Future

The marine industry is having to adjust its sails and adapt to a constantly changing world. In Estonia, where maritime culture is as highly regarded as innovation and technological excellence, businesses are rising to the challenge.

Enterprise Estonia is hosting a free webinar on 26th of February 2021 10h CET to introduce new innovative solutions by Estonian companies that are making waves in the maritime world by combining their established expertise with maximum flexibility to meet the rapidly evolving needs of the market.

From top-shelf materials and stunning interiors to instrument deployment units and expansion joints, these companies cover a broad spectrum of superior quality products for the future of the marine industry.

Opening lines by Mr. Peter Moller, project leader from Schleswig-Holstein, The Maritime Cluster Northern Germany."
